DETAILED ACTION

This an original application filed December 12, 2001 and claims benefit to foreign application 2001-75877 filed December 3, 2001 in the Republic of Korea.

Claims 1-11 are pending and currently under examination.

Election/Restriction

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1, 2 and 3, drawn to a vector comprising a lectin gene regulation site of Misgurnus mizolepis, classified in class 536, subclass 24.1, and class 435, subclass 320.1.
- II. Claims 4, 5, 8 and 10 drawn to a vector comprising a lectin gene regulation site of Misgurnus mizolepis operably linked to a growth hormone gene of Misgurnus mizolepis, and use of said vector to generate a transgenic Misgurnus mizolepis, classified in class 435, subclass 320.1; class 800, subclass 20, 24.
- III. Claims 6, 7, 9 and 11 drawn to a vector comprising a lectin gene regulation site of Cyprinus carpio operably linked to a growth hormone gene of Cyprinus carpio, and use of said vector to generate a transgenic Cyprinus carpio, classified in class 435, subclass 320.1; class 800, subclass 20, 24.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Art Unit: 1632

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to two different products and methods of use wherein there are two different starting materials required and two different transgenic fish generated.

Inventions I and II-III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the promoter and vector can be used to express other types of proteins (besides growth hormones) in cells. The vector can be used by itself or with other sequences encoding any gene of interest. The subcombinations have separate utility such as making unique species of transgenic fish which display increased growth. The subcombination has utility by itself by providing a vector expressing a growth hormone as demonstrated by its use to make transgenic fish.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter wherein the search required for each of the groups is different and unique, and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
